Dear reader, my name is Victoire Mandonnaud. Currently an undergraduate studying Anthropology and Economics at Columbia University, I would like to pursue a Phd in Political Philosophy. As to now I understand my call to be to rethink and/or rearrange the social spaces in which I am involved. This is one of the reasons why I purposefully practice to engage with many fields and disciplines. My ultimate goal would be to balance between theoretical writing about related topics, a thorough art practice involving painting, music, photography and fiction writing and a soft form of activism for the freedom of being opposition.
